ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF MEASURE R

Vote YES on R
City Charter Clean Up Amendments To Protect Oceanside's State Funding

Measure R updates Oceanside's City Charter to protect Oceanside's fair share of state infrastructure funds for essential, local public works priorities. Measure R protects fair wages for local workers and protects taxpayers with stricter accountability. It's a simple fix with a big impact that a bipartisan City Council majority placed on the ballot.

Yes on R: Protects Oceanside From Losing Millions In State Funding

Oceanside adopted its charter in 2010. Since then, state laws have passed that conflict with our charter, putting Oceanside at risk of losing state funding for local public works projects. This amendment aligns our city charter with state laws to ensure Oceanside remains eligible for our fair share of state tax dollars. Other regional cities have already passed similar updates to preserve their state funding. Measure R ensures Oceanside does the same and doesn't lose out on a single dollar.

Yes on R: Protects Fair Wages & Apprenticeship Opportunities

Oceanside has long supported fair prevailing wage jobs for local workers that include registered apprenticeship opportunities. Measure R codifies this practice in our charter, ensuring skilled local Oceanside workers earn good wages and can afford to stay in the community they build. Measure R also allows Oceanside to expand job training and local hiring opportunities for our youth and veterans who we value greatly. In a proud military town, our veterans should always have a fair shot at reentering the workforce.

Yes on R: Protects Oceanside Taxpayers

Measure R gives the City Council authority to establish stronger safety and taxpayer accountability protections for public works projects. Stricter accountability and oversight means city infrastructure that's on-budget, safe and built to last.

Join Oceanside Councilmembers Eric Joyce & Jimmy Figueroa, U.S. Rep. Mike Levin, Middle Class Taxpayers Association, the Union Veterans Council, AFL-CIO, and more in voting YES on R.

YesOnROceanside.org

LORENZO MILES
Training Director,
Sheet Metal Apprenticeship

SEAN-KEONI ELLIS
USMC Veteran Former Lead Instructor,
Veterans In Piping - Camp Pendleton

TERENCE WEBSTER
USMC ret. Police and Fire Commissioner,
City of Oceanside

ESTHER SANCHEZ
Mayor,
City of Oceanside

LINDA LEGERRETTE
Board Member,
Middle Class Taxpayers Association

REBUTTAL TO ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF MEASURE R

Vote NO on R

State Funding is Already Secure
Measure R will not change state funding. Per SB922 (2011) Oceanside is compliant with state law and pays "fair wages" on public projects. There is no risk of losing funds.

Measure R is UNFAIR to local independent contractors
California is the most regulated state making it difficult for small and minority business owners. This additional regulatory burden puts unnecessary hardships on struggling locally owned businesses while favoring large corporate unions. Measure R allows the City to contract with labor unions in most cases.

PLAs increase costs by 15-30%
RAND Corporation found PLAs added 21% to costs. A New Jersey study found an increase of 30.5%. This will cost you more in taxes.

Apprenticeships and Youth Jobs
Job opportunities for veterans and youth are vitally important to our community. PLAs funnel future workers into union jobs rather than providing equal opportunities in all types of trades. This limits choices for veterans and young people learning a trade or career and is unfair to local businesses.

This amendment gives the state more control over Oceanside and City Council more control over your money
The claim is more transparency and accountability. We've heard that before. Let's not fall for it again.

The best protection from another money grab is to Vote NO on R.

SANDRA LEVEE
Concerned Citizen

COLETTE KELLEY
Accountant

ADRIANNE SILVERIA
Concerned Citizen

JAMES SILVERIA
Teamsters Commercial Truck Driver

RAFAEL MARTINEZ

ARGUMENT AGAINST MEASURE R

The City of Oceanside claims that Measure R will ensure Oceanside is in compliance with state requirements for funding but the city is already in complete compliance and continues to qualify for State funding. Please google for more information. Measure R is unnecessary to ensure funding.

Measure R ensures the use of project labor agreements (PLAs). PLAs add regulatory burdens that only large corporations with unions can navigate. PLA's were specifically banned by Oceanside voters in 2010 giving the city more local control rather than giving the state more control. PLAs typically cost taxpayers an extra 25-30% in project costs. Measure R will increase local taxes and exclude Oceanside contractors from local city projects. PLA's reduce competition, increase costs and are discriminatory against a skilled workforce that chooses to work for merit-based contractors. Under Measure R, PLAs would be completely at the discretion of the city council by majority council vote of how funds are spent.

This measure will end up taking more money from your pocket, affect your family's quality of life, and give your hard earned dollars to government projects at inflated costs. According to a recent piece in the San Diego Union Tribune, Measure R is "a gift for the unions". Please VOTE NO on Measure R.

SANDRA LEVEE

COLETTE KELLEY

ADRIANNE SILVERIA

JAMES SILVERIA

RAFAEL MARTINEZ

REBUTTAL TO THE ARGUMENT AGAINST MEASURE R

The Opponents Have The Facts WRONG…

Don't let them gamble with Oceanside's fair share of state infrastructure funds…

VOTE YES ON R

Measure R was written to keep Oceanside eligible for state public works funds to fix our roads and keep city infrastructure safe.

Oceanside's non-partisan City Attorney confirms: "IF ADOPTED, MEASURE R WOULD ENSURE THE CITY'S CONTINUING ELIGIBILITY FOR STATE FUNDING FOR INFRASTRUCTURE PROJECTS."

Oceanside leaders came together to place Measure R on the ballot — Councilmembers Eric Joyce, Jimmy Figueroa and Rick Robinson, and Mayor Esther Sanchez. YES on R is also endorsed by the Middle Class Taxpayers Association, San Diego Building & Construction Trades Council and the Union Veterans Council.

The facts are simple. In 2010, Oceanside's City Charter tried to exempt city construction from paying fair prevailing wages. Since then, California passed SB7, SB922, and SB829 to take away state funding from cities that push wages down and weaken taxpayer accountability. Oceanside has always paid fair wages, but our City Charter still doesn't match state law. Measure R fixes that, locking in these protections so our state funding is never in doubt and local workers can afford to live in the city they help build.

Yes on R protects Oceanside's state public works dollars to ensure a safe, well-built city.

Yes on R protects taxpayers with competitive bidding and strict accountability as state law requires.

Yes on R protects workers by ensuring fair pay and apprenticeship job training.

Yes on R protects veterans by encouraging veterans hiring targets on local construction.

Vote YES ON R
Protect Oceanside's State Funding
YesOnROceanside.org

LORENZO MILES
Training Director, Sheet Metal Apprenticeship

SEAN-KEONI ELLIS
USMC ret. Former Lead Instructor, Veterans In Piping - Camp Pendleton

TERENCE WEBSTER
USMC Ret. Police and Fire Commissioner, City of Oceanside

ESTHER SANCHEZ
Mayor, City of Oceanside

LINDA LEGERRETTE
Board Member, Middle Class Taxpayers Assoc