Rebuttal to Argument Against Measure M

STRICT

The opponent is right about two things: our dedicated teachers and staff do remarkable work every day, and nobody enjoys paying taxes. But he's wrong about Measure M. Here's why:

Great schools require funding, and neither the State nor the Federal government provides enough to give our students the education they need for college and high-paying careers.

Measure M replaces the expiring 2018 parcel tax with an increase of less than a dollar a week per parcel. By law, these funds must stay local—the State cannot take them and spend them elsewhere. Keeping qualified teachers and staff in our classrooms, not cycling through new hires year after year, is what gives students consistency and results. Strong programs and steady instruction depend on the same thing: teachers who stay.

The opponent claims Measure M offers "no new accountability standards." This is also wrong. Even though State law does not require an independent Citizens' Oversight Committee for parcel taxes, Jefferson Union High School District's Board of Trustees voted to create one anyway. Together, the committee and annual public reporting will ensure full disclosure of all spending. Every dollar will go only to teachers, academic programs, and college and career preparation, never to administrator salaries, benefits, or pensions.

Our community shows up for our teachers, and our teachers show up for our students. Measure M protects that progress and keeps moving Jefferson Union High School District forward.

Vote Yes on Measure M! 7 Cal
