start/ Reports of the Town's imminent financial demise or invasion are greatly exaggerated! 12

Proponents' fear-mongering is fantasy, and only highlights their absence of a defense for the flawed property transfer tax itself. 19

We are not at risk of financial collapse or loss of self-determination. Disincorporation in California last happened in 1973, for a single Southern California town. 14 11 — 56

Town finance staff's budget projections cover all expenses, including continuing public safety and wildfire mitigation/protection funding through end of FY2028 before approaching our 20% cash reserves. Even with no new taxes, there are two additional years before reserves are depleted in FY2030. 12 13 15 3 — 43

Council could have offered a second, alternative tax measure, broadly equitable, in this election, for voters to choose between. 13 6

A modest parcel or utility user's tax increase of $800 or less per residence per year could spread the tax burden equitably across virtually all residents. 18 8 — 45

Or a fairer transfer tax, applied on the difference between sale price and current tax-assessed value, with an exemption for sellers or buyers who have paid another transfer tax recently on a replacement property. 15 17 2

Remember: Council asked their own Finance Committee to research alternative tax measures and provisions, but DIDN'T ASK FOR OR RECEIVE either a recommendation or endorsement for this confiscatory transfer tax. WHY? 12 13 6 — 65

We should strive to share taxes fairly for the kind of Town we all want—not to saddle a huge exit toll on our departing neighbors. 19 7

Send Council back with a NO vote. There's still time to get this right. /end 14 — 40
