REBUTTAL TO ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF MEASURE E

Small housing providers, affordable housing nonprofits, small businesses, first responders and the Redwood City Council oppose Measure E for the same underlying reasons: Measure E's unintended consequences will put essential City programs and services at risk, and reduce housing affordability and choice.

Measure E is costly. Two independent financial analyses found administering this program could cost up to $11 million per year and require 18 new full-time employees. Fees could reach $757 per rental unit with the gap diverted from other City departments, such as police and fire. This is not a "small fee."

Measure E is a sharp departure from other cities by not exempting affordable housing nonprofits. Nonprofits like the St. Francis Center, who have spent decades providing and preserving affordable homes, would face the same fees as corporate landlords, threatening their ability to maintain buildings and fund resident services.

Measure E applies to every apartment, single family home, in-law and nonprofit affordable housing unit in Redwood City. It requires between $12,000-$25,000 in relocation payments to move back in, or renovate your home. Any change or fix to Measure E requires another costly citywide election.

With no General Fund backstop, an unproven program with an $11 million price tag could mean real cuts to police, fire and services our neighborhoods depend on. This measure risks our safety net and the affordable housing it claims to protect.

Don't trade affordable housing, City services and safe neighborhoods for a flawed measure.

Vote NO on Measure E.
