REBUTTAL TO ARGUMENT AGAINST MEASURE J

The argument against Measure J overlooks one fundamental fact: police protection, fire and emergency response, streets, parks and other essential City services cannot be funded through voluntary donations. It is our responsibility to ensure that we have trained, professional and adequate services because our community depends upon them every day. This is an investment in the safety and security of our community.

Measure J is NOT a new tax. It continues an existing, locally approved revenue source that has helped Coalinga fund police, firefighters, public-safety vehicles, emergency preparedness and community improvements such as the Splash Pad, a new Animal Shelter and the upcoming Food Court Park. Without Measure J funds these would not be possible.

Measure J provides a dependable source of funding that allows the City to plan responsibly, recruit and retain qualified personnel, replace aging emergency equipment and maintain essential services.

Measure J also is not paid only by Coalinga residents. Anyone making taxable purchases in Coalinga contribute including Visitors, Travelers and Guests.

We recognize that household costs have increased, but eliminating approximately $2 million annually in locally controlled funding would not eliminate the need for police, fire, emergency response, street maintenance or other City services. It would simply leave fewer resources available to provide them.

Most importantly, every Measure J dollar stays in Coalinga and cannot be taken by the State or spent in another community.

Measure J keeps local dollars under local control and protects services Coalinga residents rely upon.

Vote YES on Measure J
