Rebuttal to Argument in Favor of Measure F

Vote NO on Measure F.

Shasta County voters already voted NO on a substantially similar proposal, Measure Q, in November 2024, with 58.5% voting against it.

The proposed charter amendment is presented as an expansion of voter choice, but it would actually create unnecessary delays, costs, and uncertainty whenever an elected department head position becomes vacant.

An unexpected vacancy requires prompt and competent leadership. this proposal could leave a critical county office without a permanent elected official for as long as 12 months simply because the next regularly scheduled election falls within that period. During that time, taxpayers are stuck with the bill for a countywide election, even when the vacancy occurs shortly after an election.

The proposal also gives the Board of Supervisors too much control when an election is not scheduled within 12 months. A four-fifths vote would allow the Board to appoint someone through a recruitment process, meaning voters would have no direct say at all. This measure does not consistently guarantee voter choice; it creates two different systems depending largely on the timing of a vacancy.

Again, π importantly, Shasta County voters already rejected a substantially similar proposal, Measure Q, in November 2024, with 58%.5% voting against it.

Rather than repeatedly revisiting a policy voters rejected, the County should respect that decision and pursue a vacancy process that is timely, fiscally responsible, and genuinely accountable to voters.

Please vote NO on measure F.
